Any conflicting or different terms and conditions specified by the party placing the order shall not be recognised.

2. The publishing company reserves the right to refuse advertisements and / or insert orders because of their content, origin or technical form, if their content violates laws or government regulations or if publication of them by the publishing company cannot reasonably be expected. Orders for inserts shall only be binding on the publishing company when a sample of the insert has been submitted and approved. The party placing the order shall be informed immediately when an order is rejected.

3. Advertisements designed editorially in such a way that they are not recognisable as advertisements shall be identified clearly as such by the publishing company by the inclusion of the word „Advertisement“.

4. The party placing the order is responsible for supplying the text for the advertisement and flawless printing documents or the inserts in good time.

5. The publishing company guarantees the printing quality that is normal for the publication booked, within the framework of what is possible on the basis of the printing documents.

6. The party placing the order shall pay the costs of producing reproducible originals, of optimising printing documents that are received damaged and of making changes to originally agreed versions that the party placing the order requests or is responsible for.

7. If a smaller number of advertisements than planned is placed within the 12-month period, the relevant discount amount shall be charged in retrospect. If a larger number of advertisements than planned is placed within the 12-month period, the relevant higher discount shall be credited in retrospect.
